Important Workmen in the Great Coal Oil Industry.

A class of men who know the real meaning of the term "strenuous life" are the hardy pump linemen who superintend the transit of oil from well to tide water. They live thousands of feet above the level of the sea on lonely mountains. Months pass and they never see a new face. Clouds, mists and fog, above, below and around them, form the eternal landscape. In the summer season the work, though hard, can be endured; its main discomforts are the isolation and the physical exhaustion. But when winter chains the mountains in its icy spell then the linemen are subjected to hardships from which even the strongest man might well shrink.

Even though the mercury coquette with the zero, the pipes must be kept in condition to carry the oil. To make necessary repairs the linemen must climb mountains, cross ravines and ford rivers and creeks. Sometimes he must stand waist deep for hours in snow and water, and when his task is finished tramp back miles through snow-choked and ice-bound forests before he can reach the shelter of his humble home. They are heroes of every-day life, these brave men. No one applauds their courage, no post sings their praises, yet they daily submit to exposure and perform exploits of daring that are not surpassed in actual warfare. The Susquehanna, Juniata, Lehigh and other streams whose waters flow toward the Atlantic coast are lined with the homes of these thrifty workmen.

There are two classes of operators—the pumpmen and the linemen. The first squad looks after the pumps and sees that nothing checks the flow of oil; the other lays new pipe. These men are really charged with the responsibility of bringing to Philadelphia, New York and other cities the oil which is so necessary as fuel and illuminant.

Mysteries of the Skies.

From the Atlantic Monthly.

Though 300 years have elapsed since the death of Tycho Brahe, and the scientific world has only recently joined in celebrating his immortal memory, it appears that we are in many lines almost as far from the ultimate goal as when he began the great work of exploring the skies before the days of Kepler, when all Europe was shrouded in intellectual darkness. The science of the stars, indeed, has been refined and perfected in an unparalleled degree, and infinitely extended in all directions, but with the history of the stars, and never will be, in sight. An infinity of phenomena are yet to be explored, and the work of the mind is rather a process of development to the perfect understanding of the universe than the solution of a simple mathematical problem.

BASE BALL NEWS

P. A. Dempsey, the noted rowing coach, who has done more to bring distinction to the Schuylkill navy of Philadelphia than all the other rowing coaches combined, has signed a contract with the officials of Georgetown College to coach the crews.

Mr. Dempsey will have absolute control over aquatic affairs at Georgetown. He will be held responsible for results, but he will not be interfered with in the methods by which he hopes to produce the desired results.

Mr. Dempsey's ability both as an oarsman and a coach was always recognized in Philadelphia, but it was not until 1901 that he achieved an international reputation. Then he took the champion Vesper eight of that city to Paris, where, on the Seine, he defeated all the crack eights of the world.

For five years Mr. Dempsey was the champion amateur of the Schuylkill. In 1897 he established his reputation as a successful coach with the Pennsylvania Barge Club, which at the time of his coaching won the singles, doubles, pairs, fours and eights. At the Fourth of July, the same year, they repeated the performance, but this time against the best crews in the country.

They were equally successful at the national regatta, where they beat the University of Pennsylvania and the Yale crew of Harvard by twenty seconds. In 1898 and 1899 the career of the Pennsylvania crew was practically a string of victories. In 1900 the famous Vesper crew was organized. The Vespers went down the line, beating everything and winning the right to represent America at the international championships in Paris, where, as already stated, they were just as successful as they had been at home.

In 1901, being dissatisfied with the way some of the members of the crew conducted themselves, Mr. Dempsey retired as coach, as a consequence the eight which he had built up went to pieces and finished nowhere in the big races.

WESTERN LEAGUE MEETING.

Magnate Beal of Minneapolis Expelled for Helping Opposition.

President James Whitfield in the chair the Western League held its first open session of the present meeting yesterday afternoon in Kansas City.

Prior to the meeting of the Western League a conference, attended by President Powers and other members of the National Association, and President Whitfield had been held, at which it was decided that the National Association should remain loyal to the Western League in its fight with the American Association, giving the Western League financial aid, if necessary, and moral support at all times.

A surprise was sprung when Thomas P. Burns of Colorado Springs made a motion that A. B. Beal of Minneapolis be expelled from membership in the Western League. No charges were preferred, but the motion was seconded and immediately carried by a unanimous vote.

Beal arose to speak, but was promptly declared out of order and refused a hearing by President Whitfield. Beal left the meeting.

Later President Whitfield stated that the charge against Beal was that of aiding the opposition league by transferring his Minneapolis players to the Western League, George Tebeau of the American Association.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR AMERICANS.

Enoch Wishard Denounces Methods Practiced on English Turf.

Enoch Wishard, trainer for John B. Drake, who is in Chicago, yesterday let forth his wrath against the methods practiced during his stay in England, and of his own treatment on English courses, the result of his being an American, he says:

"There's only one thing over there that they do not do, and that is hang you if they got a chance. They don't want Americans, especially those who are in the game for the money. You let an American claim to be a horse man, and they will let you out at the first opportunity. Suppose the horse has been carrying bottom weight. Before the American has had a chance to run him once at his old weight the stewards add about forty pounds to his scale, and do it so as to prevent his winning. You can't win with an American horse unless you occupy a high social position, and there is less chance of your winning with an English one. That has happened a number of times in my own experience."

"Talk about there being a self-supporting stable in England. That is all rot. There are only two tracks at which they add money to the weight, and that is at Ascot and Manchester. At the others the entrance fee amounts to about twice the amount of the purse, so that you only put up your own money and give the other fellow a chance to win it, and they take care that the American gets no chance at it."

CORBETT AND MCGOVERN TO MEET.

Fight Will Probably Come Off in St. Louis.

Terry McGovern will be given first chance at "Young Corbett" when the latter leaves stageland to take up ring contests again. The match will probably be arranged to take place in April, and if the St. Louis clubs can offer sufficient inducements in the way of a purse, the bout will be awarded to St. Louis. P. J. Kennedy, who is associated in the management of "Young Corbett's" stable, and pugilist and promoter, and who last week was in St. Louis, left Sunday for New York, where he will confer with Sam Harris, McGovern's manager, on the details of the coming battle.

Sam Tiall, who is in St. Louis in advance of Corbett, arranged for his exhibition, states that arrangements for signing up the men were positively under way, and would probably be shortly completed.

"Corbett," declared Tiall, "like every other successful pugilist, saw the way to make a little money out of stage exhibitions, and he is merely taking advantage of it. He thinks he can defeat McGovern again, and is ready to meet him whenever his managers say the word. He is not the only one that thinks he can win again. Jim Jeffries told me he believed Corbett would do the trick if the two men ever met again."

SPEEDY TROTTERS MAY RACE.

Forfeits Have Been Posted by Two of the Fastest Trotters.

The proposed match races between the trotters Lord Derby, The Abbot and Borlma now look to be an assured fact. E. E. Snathers, owner of Lord Derby, yesterday posted a forfeit of $5,000 to bind a match, and a similar sum has already been posted by ex-Fire Commissioner Scannell, who owns The Abbot. It was expected that Mr. Lawson would send a representative to New York city yesterday to arrange the details of the matches, but he did not think this necessary, and said that he would send at once an agreement and two forfeits to bind the matches.

The Lawson agreement will be submitted to Messrs. Scannell and Snathers, and it is very probable that both these men will sign the agreement immediately, as the conditions in the original challenge sent out by Mr. Lawson were acceptable to the parties interested.

Lord Derby has beaten Borlma twice, and while he has been beaten by Snathers' possession but a short time, he is confident that he can repeat the performance when called upon. The race arranged between The Abbot and Borlma last year did not come off, as the latter on this occasion was taken ill. Mr. Lawson has claimed that Borlma was not at his best when he was beaten by Lord Derby last year, and he is confident that his horse

That has happened a number of times in my own experience."

"Talk about there being a self-supporting stable in England. That is all rot. There are only two tracks at which they add money to the weight, and that is at Ascot and Manchester. At the others the entrance fee amounts to about twice the amount of the purse, so that you only put up your own money and give the other fellow a chance to win it, and they take care that the American gets no chance at it."

CORBETT AND MCGOVERN TO MEET.

Fight Will Probably Come Off in St. Louis.

Terry McGovern will be given first chance at "Young Corbett" when the latter leaves stageland to take up ring contests again. The match will probably be arranged to take place in April, and if the St. Louis clubs can offer sufficient inducements in the way of a purse, the bout will be awarded to St. Louis. P. J. Kennedy, who is associated in the management of "Young Corbett's" stable, and pugilist and promoter, and who last week was in St. Louis, left Sunday for New York, where he will confer with Sam Harris, McGovern's manager, on the details of the coming battle.

Sam Tiall, who is in St. Louis in advance of Corbett, arranged for his exhibition, states that arrangements for signing up the men were positively under way, and would probably be shortly completed.

"Corbett," declared Tiall, "like every other successful pugilist, saw the way to make a little money out of stage exhibitions, and he is merely taking advantage of it. He thinks he can defeat McGovern again, and is ready to meet him whenever his managers say the word. He is not the only one that thinks he can win again. Jim Jeffries told me he believed Corbett would do the trick if the two men ever met again."

SPEEDY TROTTERS MAY RACE.

Forfeits Have Been Posted by Two of the Fastest Trotters.

The proposed match races between the trotters Lord Derby, The Abbot and Borlma now look to be an assured fact. E. E. Snathers, owner of Lord Derby, yesterday posted a forfeit of $5,000 to bind a match, and a similar sum has already been posted by ex-Fire Commissioner Scannell, who owns The Abbot. It was expected that Mr. Lawson would send a representative to New York city yesterday to arrange the details of the matches, but he did not think this necessary, and said that he would send at once an agreement and two forfeits to bind the matches.

The Lawson agreement will be submitted to Messrs. Scannell and Snathers, and it is very probable that both these men will sign the agreement immediately, as the conditions in the original challenge sent out by Mr. Lawson were acceptable to the parties interested.

Lord Derby has beaten Borlma twice, and while he has been beaten by Snathers' possession but a short time, he is confident that he can repeat the performance when called upon. The race arranged between The Abbot and Borlma last year did not come off, as the latter on this occasion was taken ill. Mr. Lawson has claimed that Borlma was not at his best when he was beaten by Lord Derby last year, and he is confident that his horse

P. A. Dempsey, the noted rowing coach, who has done more to bring distinction to the Schuylkill navy of Philadelphia than all the other rowing coaches combined, has signed a contract with the officials of Georgetown College to coach the crews.

Mr. Dempsey will have absolute control over aquatic affairs at Georgetown. He will be held responsible for results, but he will not be interfered with in the methods by which he hopes to produce the desired results.

Mr. Dempsey's ability both as an oarsman and a coach was always recognized in Philadelphia, but it was not until 1901 that he achieved an international reputation. Then he took the champion Vesper eight of that city to Paris, where, on the Seine, he defeated all the crack eights of the world.

For five years Mr. Dempsey was the champion amateur of the Schuylkill. In 1897 he established his reputation as a successful coach with the Pennsylvania Barge Club, which at the time of his coaching won the singles, doubles, pairs, fours and eights. At the Fourth of July, the same year, they repeated the performance, but this time against the best crews in the country.

They were equally successful at the national regatta, where they beat the University of Pennsylvania and the Yale crew of Harvard by twenty seconds. In 1898 and 1899 the career of the Pennsylvania crew was practically a string of victories. In 1900 the famous Vesper crew was organized. The Vespers went down the line, beating everything and winning the right to represent America at the international championships in Paris, where, as already stated, they were just as successful as they had been at home.

In 1901, being dissatisfied with the way some of the members of the crew conducted themselves, Mr. Dempsey retired as coach, as a consequence the eight which he had built up went to pieces and finished nowhere in the big races.

WESTERN LEAGUE MEETING.

Magnate Beal of Minneapolis Expelled for Helping Opposition.

President James Whitfield in the chair the Western League held its first open session of the present meeting yesterday afternoon in Kansas City.

Prior to the meeting of the Western League a conference, attended by President Powers and other members of the National Association, and President Whitfield had been held, at which it was decided that the National Association should remain loyal to the Western League in its fight with the American Association, giving the Western League financial aid, if necessary, and moral support at all times.

A surprise was sprung when Thomas P. Burns of Colorado Springs made a motion that A. B. Beal of Minneapolis be expelled from membership in the Western League. No charges were preferred, but the motion was seconded and immediately carried by a unanimous vote.

Beal arose to speak, but was promptly declared out of order and refused a hearing by President Whitfield. Beal left the meeting.

Later President Whitfield stated that the charge against Beal was that of aiding the opposition league by transferring his Minneapolis players to the Western League, George Tebeau of the American Association.

Enoch Wishard Denounces Methods Practiced on English Turf.

Enoch Wishard, trainer for John B. Drake, who is in Chicago, yesterday let forth his wrath against the methods practiced during his stay in England, and of his own treatment on English courses, the result of his being an American, he says:

"There's only one thing over there that they do not do, and that is hang you if they got a chance. They don't want Americans, especially those who are in the game for the money. You let an American claim to be a horse man, and they will let you out at the first opportunity. Suppose the horse has been carrying bottom weight. Before the American has had a chance to run him once at his old weight the stewards add about forty pounds to his scale, and do it so as to prevent his winning. You can't win with an American horse unless you occupy a high social position, and there is less chance of your winning with an English one. That has happened a number of times in my own experience."

"Talk about there being a self-supporting stable in England. That is all rot. There are only two tracks at which they add money to the weight, and that is at Ascot and Manchester. At the others the entrance fee amounts to about twice the amount of the purse, so that you only put up your own money and give the other fellow a chance to win it, and they take care that the American gets no chance at it."
